

GEARING UP

THIS SPORK TRULY IS CUTTING EDGE

Eating around the campfire has never been easier with Light My Fire's useful spork. With a spoon at one end and fork at the other, the handy utensil also incorporates a knife by making one fork edge serrated. Now you can cut your food and eat it with just one utensil.

The sporks come in an array of colors, including orange, pink, green, blue and red.

You can find them at many area outdoor stores such as REI and other retailers like Wal-Mart. Individual sporks cost $3 and sets of four are in the $9 range. To learn more about Light My Fire products: www.lightmyfireusa.com. There are many more camping-type products where the spork came from, including meal kits, fire starting units and other handy things that are lightweight and deserve a space in your backpack.

— Jessica Milcetic, McClatchy Newspapers

